MATHIS FLIGHT CLUB

EDITION NO. 1 · 11 OCTOBER 2026

The weekly newsletter

Welcome to Mathis Flight Club: your first weekly edition

11 Oct 2026 · Every fare priced in rupees

A note from me

Dear friend,

My name is Mathimalar, and I started Mathis Flight Club for a very simple reason: flight prices are a mystery, and they should not be. The same seat on the same flight can cost one person Rs. 25,000 and another person Rs. 40,000, and the difference is usually just timing and knowing where to look.

So every week, I track fares from your home airports across India, watch for airline promo codes, and dig out the mistake fares that airlines quietly fix within hours. Then I pick the ones that are genuinely worth your money and put them in one clean email. No noise, no spam, just the deals that matter.

Since this is your very first edition, I did not want to make you wait until Saturday. Here is everything I found this week, laid out the way I would explain it to a friend over coffee.

Happy reading, and happy flying.

- Mathimalar

Deal of the week

Ethiopian Airlines: 10% off almost the whole network

This is the one I am most excited about. Ethiopian is running a 10% discount on Economy and Business fares across nearly their entire network. If you have been thinking about Africa, Europe, or a long haul via Addis Ababa, this is your window. Book directly on the Ethiopian Airlines site or app, and the discount applies at checkout.

The fine print, honestly: the sale runs until 24 October 2026, so you have about two weeks. You can travel between 1 October and 30 November 2026, or between 1 February and 31 March 2027. It does not apply to flights to or from Addis Ababa itself, Somalia, or China. Everything else is fair game.

My take: a 10% cut on a Rs. 80,000 long-haul fare is Rs. 8,000 back in your pocket for zero extra effort. That is real money.

ENDS IN 4 DAYS

Air India: up to Rs. 20,000 off India USA

Air India is offering up to Rs. 20,000 off the base fare on flights between India and the USA. Use the code FLYUS when you book on the Air India website.
My take: if you or family have a US trip anywhere on the horizon, book before 15 October. Rs. 20,000 off is the biggest single discount in this edition, and it disappears on Wednesday.

Live fares I spotted this week

These are real return fares I tracked this week, departing 12 November and returning 19 November 2026. Fares shift by the hour, so treat these as a strong signal of what is possible right now, then check your exact dates.

Chennai -> Dubai

Rs. 25,400

Gulf Air · return · 12-19 Nov

Dubai in November is perfect weather, and Rs. 25,400 return from Chennai is a genuinely good price. Great for a long weekend of shopping and skyline views, or a stopover on the way to Europe.

Bengaluru -> Doha

Rs. 27,458

Air Arabia · return · 12-19 Nov

Doha has quietly become one of the best-value Gulf stopovers, and this fare undercuts most of what I usually see from Bengaluru. If you have friends or family in the Gulf, this is the week to visit.

Hyderabad -> Riyadh

Rs. 26,289

SalamAir · return · 12-19 Nov

Saudi is opening up fast for travellers, and fares from Hyderabad to Riyadh rarely sit this low. Worth a look if the Kingdom has been on your list.

Chennai -> Delhi

Rs. 21,674

Air India · return · 12-19 Nov

A solid domestic return for the festive run-up. Delhi in mid-November means crisp mornings and wedding-season energy.

Chennai -> Mumbai · · Bengaluru -> Mumbai

Rs. 15,740

Rs. 12,530

Air India / IndiGo · return · 12-19 Nov

The Bengaluru-Mumbai fare at Rs. 12,530 return is the cheapest in this edition. If you travel this corridor often, these are the prices to beat.

Codes worth keeping in your pocket

Airline promo codes are free money if you remember to use them. Here are the ones that are live right now:

- IndiGo - up to 5% off Flexi Plus and IndiGoStretch base fares. Code: 6E Exclusive
- Akasa Air - up to 15% off Saver and Flexi fares when you are logged in. Code: FLYMORE (book by 31 Mar 2027)
- Qatar Airways - up to 14% off plus up to 45 kg baggage from 14 Indian cities. Code: REUNITE
- Qatar Airways - 10% off base fares when you pay with a Mastercard. Code: MASTERCARD
- Emirates - student fares: 10% off Economy plus extra baggage. Code: STUDENT (ages 16-31)

Tip: always compare the code price against the fare I tracked above. Sometimes the code wins, sometimes the tracked fare wins. Check both.

Travel tip of the week

The cheapest day to fly is rarely the day you first think of. For most India-Gulf and domestic routes, Tuesday and Wednesday departures price noticeably lower than Friday and Sunday ones. If your dates are flexible by even a day or two, shift them and watch the price drop. It is the single easiest trick in this newsletter, and it works almost every time.

A personal thank you

I want to take a moment to welcome our first two full-time paid members.
You joined when this club was barely a week old, with no track record and just a promise that I would hunt down the best fares for you. That kind of trust means everything to me. Thank you for believing in this platform so early.
You will always get every deal first, and I will keep working to make your membership worth far more than it costs. Welcome aboard, truly.

Stay tuned

This is only the beginning. Every Saturday at 6 PM IST, the next edition lands in your inbox. The next one arrives on Saturday, 17 October, and I am already tracking fresh fares for it, including options for the festive travel season.

The best deals I find usually last hours, not days, so Saturday evenings are worth keeping an eye on your inbox. And if you ever spot a fare you think the club should know about, just reply to any newsletter. I read every single reply.
